

in this order

Ξ

Handwriting practice lines for the Greek letter xi (ξ). The page contains multiple rows of dashed lines for tracing and solid lines for independent writing. Each row is preceded by a red dot indicating the starting point for the first stroke. The first row is followed by a row of four dashed lines for tracing. The subsequent rows are for independent practice, each consisting of a solid line and a dashed line. The letter xi is formed by three strokes: a vertical line down, a horizontal line across the middle, and a diagonal line from the top right to the bottom left.
